WPTI and JobsFirstNYC have prepared a job development networking event that will give you the opportunity to:

- Network with other professionals in NYC job development who can help you strengthen your connections in the field as well as build healthy employer relationships;
- Learn best practices in how to persuade employers from a hesitant or resistant attitude to wanting to do business with you; and
- Hear from Walter Reyes, a dynamic guest speaker with many years of HR experience who will offer insight into the employer perspective and how to really sell your services in order to foster lasting relationships.
